Annual Report

2014

Celebrating 140 years: 1874-2014

each child, every opportunity
Vision
A society in which each child is given the opportunity in early childhood to develop their abilities to meet life’s challenges and opportunities.

Role
We provide early intervention and other services for children before they go to school, particularly vulnerable children and their families. We do this in an environment in which the value and dignity of every child is recognised.

We promote the interests of children by providing advice to community organisations, the community sector and government.

Values

Integrity
Behaving fairly and ethically, and communicating in an open and honest manner.

Diversity
Respecting and building on the strengths of differences in their various forms.

Collaboration
Promoting partnerships with children, families, communities, staff and carers.

Innovation
Discovering ways to achieve improved outcomes for children.
The Infants’ Home is an integrated service, one of the largest of its kind in NSW. We integrate early childhood education and care, early intervention and health services for children and families. In 2014 we provided services to 2,358 children. One third of these services were directed to children and families with additional physical or emotional needs, or those living in vulnerable circumstances.

Strong children, strong families, strong nation
2014 saw The Infants’ Home celebrate 140 years as a dynamic and innovative organisation, championing the rights of children, women and families, protecting children at risk, and guiding families as they build their strength, skills and confidence to create a more positive future for themselves.

Our fundamental purpose is to have a positive social impact on the communities in which we operate. We achieve this by:

- Providing high quality, evidence-based services
- Focusing on disadvantaged children and families
- Addressing social justice and inequality
- Building partnerships for societal change.

Each child, every opportunity
Since our inception in 1874 we have continually supported vulnerable and disadvantaged children and families to build new futures by breaking the cycle of hardship, fear and hopelessness.

We have achieved this by providing physical and emotional environments that are socially just and equitable, free of any stigma, and that value the rights of all children and families.
Our Year in Numbers

- 86 children received scholarships or fee subsidies for our Integrated Services
- 486 corporate volunteers worked with us on 60 days
- 2,358 children accessed our services

Early Education and Care
- 611 children attended our Early Childhood Education and Care centres
- 991 children attended our family day care services
- 86 children transitioned to primary school from an Early Childhood Education and Care centre

Clinical Services
- 880 SpOT Children’s Clinic sessions were delivered
- 80 children attended SpOT Clinic sessions
- 192 families supported by the Sydney Hope Family Cottage Postnatal Clinic

Early Intervention
- 320 children attended playgroups each week on average
- 25 parent information sessions were held at playgroups
- 88 parents and carers attended 14 parenting courses and wellbeing workshops
- 43 women attended the Stepping UP social and emotional wellbeing program for women
"We have LOVED the projects which involve our son in aspects of life that we are unable to show him in our own home e.g. growing plants (we have no outdoor space) and the introductions to other cultures (he has come home singing songs in other languages and practicing yoga postures and he’s not even 3 yet)!"

"I like the concept of family day care as it is one carer with 4 kids... Being the only baby there, he not only got Fahmida’s full attention but the older kids also looked after him. I believe this is important not only for my son’s development but also for the development of the other kids as they get introduced at an early age to caring & sharing."

"I cannot rate this service highly enough. The caring, personal nature of the appointments in the home are so reassuring and beneficial ... As a sufferer of depression, if this service was more readily available I’m sure post-natal depression issues would decline due to the high level of personal support provided."
Celebrating 140 years

Through two world wars, the Great Depression, outbreaks of cholera and typhoid, Bubonic Plague and economic difficulties, The Infants’ Home has prevailed by constantly challenging the status quo, adapting and evolving to ensure the very best outcomes for children and families, especially those living in vulnerable or disadvantaged circumstances.

Every organisation has a story. But few can trace their roots back to the days before Australia even became a nation.

In 1874 a group of visionary women fought the Church, the press and prominent citizens of the day to establish Australia’s first home for abandoned babies and unmarried mothers and their children in Darlinghurst. They knew that providing a home for orphans would save lives and offering shelter and employment options for women would create hope and opportunity for their futures.

The Infants’ Home’s founding mothers were courageous women whose commitment to the rights of women and children continues to inspire our pursuit of excellence in child education, welfare and social justice today.

Through two world wars, the Great Depression, outbreaks of cholera and typhoid, Bubonic Plague and economic difficulties, The Infants’ Home has prevailed by constantly challenging the status quo, adapting and evolving to ensure the very best outcomes for children and families, especially those living in vulnerable or disadvantaged circumstances.

Over the past 140 years, The Infants’ Home may have changed the services it provides, the way we collaborate and our language, but our commitment to our vision of providing ‘each child, every opportunity’ is as strong as ever.
1874: The Sydney Foundling Institute established in Victoria Street, Darlinghurst. The first orphan found on steps was christened Sydney Hope, for the town and the hope carers had for his future.

1876: Purchase of Henry Street Ashfield property with gift from Thomas Walker Esq. of Concord. Name changed to The Infants’ Home the following year.

1883: The First Board of advice is established to oversee the operation of The Infants’ Home.

1897: First kindergarten established on site, integrated care provided for resident children and those in the local community.

1900: Bubonic Plague breaks out in Sydney and on medical advice The Infants’ Home cannot accept new residents for a short time.

1901: In the year Australia became a nation on January 1, The Louise Taplin Ward was built adjacent to the original stone house, followed by several other wards.

1924: Incorporation; The Infants’ Home Act passed by NSW Parliament.

1929-32: During the Great Depression the Infants’ Home provides shelter to 240 children and 96 mothers, surviving the crisis with donations.

1936: Dame Enid Lyons, the first woman elected to Federal Parliament, opens a nursery school at The Infants’ Home.

1937: A breakthrough year for The Infants’ Home, with a nil annual mortality rate for the first time.

1942: The Infants’ Home remains open despite financial difficulties due to war; half of the 278 children in residence have fathers at war.

1951: Sydney Hope Family Cottage, an infant feeding and settling clinic was established and named in honour of our first orphan.

1965: The Infants’ Home adopted by HMAS Sydney in memory of shipmates lost on the HMAS Voyager.

1972: First organisation to move from institutional care model (orphanage) to child care (long day care, family day care and foster care); day care centre opened by NSW Governor Sir Roden Cutler.

1977: The Infants’ Home establishes the Women and Children’s Stress Centre set up in support of children and families at risk.

1984: The Infants’ Home establishes a multi-purpose support hub for vulnerable families.

1987: The first visit to The Infants’ Home by an incumbent Prime Minister when Bob Hawke tours our premises.

1996: First organisation to move from institutional care model (orphanage) to child care (long day care, family day care and foster care); day care centre opened by NSW Governor Sir Roden Cutler.

2004: Child and family services become integrated at The Infants’ Home.

2009: The Infants’ Home establishes the SpOT Children’s Clinic to offer speech pathology and occupational therapy to children.

2013: The new Early Education and Care Centre opens to expand our services to meet community needs and bridge existing service gaps.

2014: Establishment of a GP Clinic onsite as social enterprise to strengthen delivery of health services to the broader community.
In 2014 The Infants’ Home took the opportunity to focus on embedding our significantly expanded programs following our rapid growth in recent years with the opening of Stage One of a new Education and Care Centre and the expansion of our Family Day Care Sydney Wide Service across the inner west, northern beaches and Randwick/South Sydney. A key aspect of this consolidation phase has been our continued focus on the delivery of innovative, evidence-based services for the additional 600 children who can now access our integrated services each year.

I would like to welcome The Infants’ Home’s new Patron, Mrs Linda Hurley, wife of His Excellency General The Honourable David Hurley AC, DSC (Rt’d), Governor of New South Wales, who agreed to be our Patron in October 2014. I also extend our warmest thanks to our previous Patron, Sir Nicholas Shehadie, and his wife Dame Marie Bashir, former Governor of New South Wales, for their support of The Infants’ Home from 2001 to 2014.

I also wish to thank the many organisations and individuals who support our work. In 2014 The Infants’ Home was once again fortunate to have received tremendous support from both our long term philanthropic and corporate partners as well as new benefactors. Our continued ability to have a strong social impact in our community and to make a real difference in the lives of children and families, especially those who are most vulnerable, relies on the generosity of our donors, supporters and partners. We look forward to continuing and growing these relationships in the future.

Finally, thank you to The Infants’ Home’s Board, CEO, Leadership Team and staff for their unfailing endeavours and commitment to realising our mission to provide ‘each child every opportunity’.

Denise Taylor
When Julia first came to The Infants’ Home with her children Bella, four, and Amy two, her family had very complex support needs.

Julia had been referred to The Infants’ Home by the supported accommodation service where she and her children were living due to domestic violence. A recent arrival to Australia from Africa, she spoke little English, was socially isolated and had no family to help or support her. She was struggling in her parenting role, especially with four year old Bella whose behaviour was quite challenging, with frequent tantrums, aggressive behaviour and social/emotional difficulties.

Julia initially received support from The Infants’ Home social worker who facilitated her family’s engagement with our service. This meant that Julia only had to tell her story once, sparing her the stress of having to recount this over again to other staff.

With the support of scholarship funding Bella and Amy were able to use The Infants’ Home’s minibus on some days to be transported to and from childcare.

Julia was also supported to access other resources in the community such as playgroups to help her and her children to connect with other families, as well as housing, health and financial services. She also received assistance to enrol in English lessons at TAFE.

Bella was referred to our art and play therapy program, where the predictable and consistent sessions allowed her to feel safe and in control. These sessions, combined with the other supports around herself and her family, helped Bella to become less anxious, and to gain the skills and confidence to forge strong, beautiful friendships with both her peers and educators. Her relationship and communication with her mum also improved, and Bella’s capacity to feel good about herself and to experience a genuine sense of belonging increased significantly.

Today both Bella and her younger sister Amy have transitioned successfully to school and are busy learning and making new friends. Julia hopes to enter the workforce when she has completed her English studies and to continue her family’s journey toward a future of hope and strength.
Club Five Dock RSL President’s Black Tie dinner
We were delighted to have been chosen by our longtime supporter Club Five Dock RSL to be the beneficiary of their annual President’s Black Tie fundraising dinner. The event was a huge success, raising $25,000 which will go towards our new on site kitchen facility.

Art as Celebration
In May the community came together to celebrate the creativity of our children at The Infants’ Home’s annual Art Show, now in its 7th year. The day was a great success, with many children, families and educators mingling to admire and discuss the impressive artwork displays.

“The Art Show also gives us a chance to catch up with our families in a relaxing social situation. Some of our families have been with us for many years, as they have had several children attend our programs successively. We also often have visits from families whose children have since moved on to primary school - and in some cases even to high school!”

THE INFANTS’ HOME CEO, ANITA KUMAR

Anita accepts a cheque from Club Five Dock RSL President Robert Ridge (L) and CEO David Conway.

The children watch eagerly as the 140th birthday cake is cut at our annual Art Show.

Throughout 2014 our preschool children participated in AFL coaching clinics where they learned basic AFL movements such as catching, passing and kicking, as well as learning about team work.
Opening of community GP Clinic
In January 2014, in partnership with Your Doctors, we were thrilled to open doors to our onsite Community GP Clinic. Through the clinic we aim to address issues of long waiting periods and lack of coordinated services, especially for children with additional needs. We are extremely excited that the genuine need for the clinic has been borne out by the consistently high levels of bookings it has had since opening.

Expansion of our integrated services
Throughout 2014 we focused on extending the reach of our integrated programs to children and families, especially those with additional needs or experiencing complex challenges in their lives, and we opened our space to the community, providing a meeting space for a weekly Aboriginal Women’s and Children’s Group yarning circle.

Children’s Carnival:
Thousands of children and families from our local community joined us at the Children’s Carnival in October to celebrate Children’s Week. Our beautiful grounds were a riot of colour and sound with rides and jumping castles, a petting zoo, magic show and children’s entertainment, as well as food and market stalls. This event gives us a wonderful opportunity to embrace people from our local community and beyond.

“The Children’s Carnival is one way that we can celebrate children’s right to enjoy childhood and focus our attention on their needs and achievements. This event is a chance for us to open our doors to our community, and to connect with the community to raise their awareness of the work that we do”

THE INFANTS’ HOME PRESIDENT, DENISE TAYLOR

In August we were delighted to host a tour of our service for the Vincent Fairfax Family Foundation, whose significant contribution towards our new Early Learning and Education Centre has enabled us to increase our operational capacity by 30%.

Dr Wenkart, head of The Wenkart Foundation, came to The Infants’ Home to learn more about our integrated services. The Wenkart Foundation generously supports our work with children and families. 2014 was yet another remarkable year for The Infants’ Home, beginning with the opening of our community GP Clinic onsite. The clinic, which is accessible to the general community, proved to be a great success, with consistently high utilisation rates throughout the year.

May 2014 marked the beginning of our 140th Anniversary year. Since our inception in 1874 we have continually supported vulnerable and disadvantaged children and families to build new futures by breaking the cycle of hardship, fear or hopelessness.

2014 also saw us engage in strong partnerships to deliver family day care for Pittwater and Mosman Councils, and parent education programs with Local Health Districts.

As we look to the future The Infants’ Home will continue to strive to serve the community, bridge ever widening gaps in accessibility, and deliver responsive services for our most disadvantaged and vulnerable children and families. Our Strategic Plan over the next two years includes a strong focus on creating impactful partnerships and continuing to build our capacity to create a social enterprise that will demonstrate sound and sustainable social and financial outcomes.

I extend a warm thank you to our Board members, and to the honorary professionals and consultants who gave their time and skills to The Infants’ Home throughout 2014.

Thank you to the staff and leadership team who’s hard work and commitment is demonstrated every day. Your dedication and passion for making a difference in the lives of children and their families is truly inspirational.

Born prematurely at just 26 weeks gestation, Angus has significant health care needs as well as a global developmental delay. Angus’s parents Sophie and Tim wanted Angus to have his additional needs met in a mainstream childcare setting where he would be genuinely included and could learn, grow and make friends just like any other child.

Angus was two when he started in Murray House. He had a tracheostomy tube since birth to relieve breathing difficulties due to chronic lung problems. This was removed after he had been with us for about two months. At first Angus received most of his nutrition via a percutaneous endoscopic gastrostomy (PEG) tube, which is a plastic tube that is put directly into the stomach through the skin, through which a liquid formula is administered.

Angus’s PEG meal times were scheduled for the same time as the other children’s so that he could be a part of this important social experience, and while these were happening some of the children would sit with him to chat and read books.

An important goal for Angus is to eventually be able to receive all of his nutrition orally, and he is well on his way to achieving this important milestone. While he continues to have PEG feeds overnight, Angus now eats regular meals during the day, and just 50 per cent of his nutrition is received via the gastrostomy tube.

Angus recently moved to Robinson House’s preschool program, and despite being a little overwhelmed at first by the size of the centre’s outdoor space, it didn’t take him long to adjust. He is now a keen participant in all that happens in the busy learning environment, whether it is riding bikes, playing soccer or making pretend cakes in the sandpit. Centre director Louise Doolin says that the children in the centre are genuinely inclusive of Angus. “They don’t see any delay or difference in him – to them he’s really just one of the crowd.”
Community demand for our early childhood education and care services remained strong in 2014 on the back of our service expansions completed in 2013. Our new Early Learning and Care Centre increased the number of children accessing our early childhood education programs, as well as our capacity to deliver other intervention and clinical programs.

The 2014 core operational surplus was $190,426 (against $181,616 in 2013). Once again, The Infants’ Home has committed some of these funds towards securing a sustainable future.

Success in financing service expansion
In 2014 we received funding in support of Stage One of our capacity building initiative from James N. Kirby Foundation, The Wenkart Foundation, as well as from the Estate of Mabel Prowse. The Vincent Fairfax Family Foundation provided further funding to enable operational augmentations for this facility. We thank our generous supporters for their significant contributions to the success of this major capacity building project. Additional capital funding was provided by Thyne Reid Foundation, FIL Foundation and Club Five Dock RSL which was targeted for the creation of a new and improved on-site kitchen facility, an important development that will be realised in 2015.

Success in service growth
The expansion of our services created by Stage One, combined with the growth of our Family Day Care Sydney Wide network to encompass services in Pittwater and Mosman council areas, have significantly increased our service capacity, resulting in 28% growth to our revenue as compared to our 2013 figures. Funding of $220,000 from the Department of Health in 2014, combined with $80,000 received in 2012, together with contributions from Your Doctors and the Anonymous Foundation helped us establish the Your Doctors GP Clinic onsite; a social enterprise project that has successfully met community demand for GP services and created an additional revenue stream.

Looking ahead
We wish to express our deep gratitude to our many donors and supporters for their contributions towards our capital works, service expansion, capacity building and social enterprise projects. Their generous financial assistance provides impactful investment to our organisation, making our vital work supporting young children and families possible, and delivering financial returns to aid our transition to a financially sustainable organisation.

Generating income from investments is another way we finance our services at The Infants’ Home. Our 2014 investment income was $150,334. The Infants’ Home has an investment policy designed to build a portfolio which balances risk and return to ensure ongoing services.

Whilst our 2015 budget will once again provide a prudent surplus, we will continue to depend on community, corporate and philanthropic financial support as we endeavour to strengthen our service and business model towards future sustainability.

Volunteers
Over 500 individuals donated their time and energy to The Infants’ Home through our volunteering programs in 2014. We estimate these volunteers, and their 2,800 hours of donated time, has helped us save up to $90,000 in general administration and grounds maintenance – money we are able to redirect to helping children and families.

Corporate volunteers
486 corporate volunteers attended 60 corporate volunteering days from these organisations:

The Infants’ Home contributes to research to build the store of knowledge about early childhood education and care, early intervention and health services, and participates in the development and review of relevant standards, regulations and policy when the opportunity arises.

Professional collaborations
We hosted visits from a number of student and professional groups to share our expertise across our service disciplines and develop inter-agency collaborations. These included:

- A group of early childhood practitioners and students from Malaysia who came to learn about our integrated service delivery model.
- A group of social workers from Korea who looked into our strategies for working with vulnerable and disadvantaged families.
- A delegation from GoodStart Early Learning who came to explore our programs, with a focus on how we use our outdoor environments.
- A group from Noah’s Shoalhaven, which provides early education and therapy services for children with additional needs, who were keen to gain insights into our integrated programs and services.
- International speaker Dr Elly Singer, Associate Professor at the University Utrecht Department of Developmental Psychology and University of Amsterdam Department of Education, delivered a presentation at The Infants’ Home on her research into the peer relationships of children.

Changing Life Trajectories
The Changing Life Trajectories research examined postnatal service delivery models for new mothers experiencing social isolation or vulnerability. The report was launched at our 139th Annual General Meeting. This research was undertaken in partnership with the University of NSW (UNSW) and the Association of Children’s Welfare Agencies.

Art of Integration
Dr Sandie Wong and Dr Fran Press from Charles Sturt University continued the ongoing action research project they are undertaking with us which focusses on how we work in inter-disciplinary ways. A third paper in the Art of Integration series, to be published next year, will highlight their latest findings.

Other research and collaborative partnerships
Dr Sheila Degotardi from Macquarie University continued her research on infant-toddler pedagogy with The Infants’ Home, exploring how children, their peers and adults understand and relate to one another. Integrated Services Manager Lynn Farrell co-wrote a paper with Associate Professor Alma Fleet, from Macquarie University, which was published in AJEC on The place of infants in the evolving policy context. The Infants’ Home also contributed to the UNSW Report Family Day Care at the crossroads paper – Social Policy Research Paper.
Productivity Commission inquiry into child care

In July 2014 the Productivity Commission released a draft report on the inquiry into childcare and early childhood learning. The Infants’ Home provided feedback at the public hearing in Sydney, raising a number of key points. We supported a number of the recommendations made. However we also had some concerns around special childcare subsidies that are accessed by vulnerable families.

Response to Family Day Care funding cuts

The Infants’ Home collaborated with peak state and national family day care organisations to lobby for a review of the Federal Government’s decision to change the eligibility criteria for the Community Support Program (CSP) funding and its impact on family day care operators.

Conferences and presentations

Integrated Services Manager Lynn Farrell presented to students at Petersham and Randwick TAFEs on our model of service delivery, and she also presented the paper Integration in Action: A Case Study at the 2014 Child Aware Approaches Conference. Art and Play Therapist Pensri Rowe delivered her presentation ‘On mark making and leaving a mark: Processing the experience of Art Therapy with Preschool Children’ at the Embracing Ripples of Growth, LASALLE/ANZATA Symposium in Singapore.
Our Board

The Infants’ Home is governed by a voluntary, independent Board of Directors with combined expertise in commercial and not-for-profit management. Our Board is committed to our values of: integrity, diversity, collaboration and innovation.

Vale Robyn Huber

In August 2014 we sadly farewelled Robyn Huber, the director of Robinson House, when she lost her battle with Lymphoma. During her 7 years with us Robyn worked with genuine passion and an ongoing dedication to help children, families and staff to achieve positive outcomes in their lives. We sincerely echo the sentiments of one of our families who posted on our Facebook page: ‘Vale Robyn, and thank you so, so much’.
